

first aid for every China Policy text

China Policy style is designed for clean and simple online presentation. We aim for as few marks on the page as possible. We drop some established rules, particularly punctuation and capitalisation. And like all systems, we have a few exceptions.

- 1 titles and subtitles: lowercase, unless a proper noun
- 2 dates: number before month: 12 Dec 2015 or 12 dec 2015 or 12 December 2015; never December 12, 2015 never add -st, -th, or -rd
- 3 numbers and currency: write out up to and including ten, but numerals for 11 and up; C¥5,000 not RMB or CNY
- 4 spaces: always single, no double spaces after full stop or colon
- 5 bullet points: do not introduce bullet points with a colon, or finish individual points with a semicolon or full stop
- 6 quotes: single ('like this'); double quotes inside single quotes ('like "this"')
- 7 Chinese names: always followed by characters, Xi Jinping 习近平, in the first instance
- 8 affiliations: largest to smallest with no comma between them e.g. NDRC Price Supervision and Anti-Monopoly Bureau
- 9 13th 5-year plan: never 13th five year plan, or 13th five-year plan, or 13th 5 year plan, or 13th FYP
- 10 exceptions: percent (one word) not %; 'and' not &, except R&D and M&A we use Australian spelling—similar to UK, with a few exceptions

-ize = -ise	programme = program
-ization = -isation	license (v) licence (n)
-er = -re	defense = defence
-or = -our	judgment = judgement
-og = -ogue	sulfur = sulphur

marine policy exercise

To be considered for this position, please complete the following two exercises in English, referring to the style guide above. Close attention to style at the drafting stage is important for our editorial process.

1. The marine portfolio covers a wide range of topics, including ocean governance, plastics, fisheries, and biodiversity. Select one commentary from two different categories listed below
 - write a concise paragraph or two that convey its main points and the perspective of the writer
 - select a quote (up to three sentences) that you feel is distinctive in conveying the message of the text, and translate it into idiomatic English
 - find two texts from mainland Chinese sources on similar issues; copy the texts or the URLs and justify your choices in a few sentences
